Witness But Not Accomplish

SAM SCHEPPS TO BE HELD FOR WHAT HE CAN TELL

BLANKET INDICTMENT

To Be Asked for Covering Six or Seven—New Facts About Becker's Stream of Money.

New York, Aug. 12.—Sam Schepps, "paymaster of the murder crew" that killed Herman Rosenthal, is to be held on his arrival here from Hot Springs, Ark., where he was arrested Saturday, as a material witness and not as one of the accomplices. It was stated by Attorney Whitman tonight.

The form of immunity is conditional, however, upon Schepps' willingness to corroborate the stories of Jack Rose and "Bridge" Webster, charging that Police Lieutenant Charles Becker was the instigator of the murder.

Know What Was Going On. Mr. Whitman does not believe that Schepps took any part in carrying out the murder plot, but he does think that he had some knowledge of what was going on and would be able to add links to the chain of evidence against Becker that would help materially to clear the police officer's conviction.

The fugitive is expected in New York on Thursday in the custody of Assistant District Attorney Rubin and Detective Stewart and Thomas, whom the district attorney sent to Hot Springs today to bring him back. Mr. Whitman telegraphed to Mayor Patt of Hot Springs today that these representatives were coming and requested that Schepps, who owns the New York police, be turned over to no other authority.

Becker's Safe Deposit Vault. Meanwhile the district attorney, who learned from his friend and at Manchester, N. Y., today, has unearthed more interesting facts about Police Lieutenant Becker, whose attitude continues to be one of silence and defiance. The latest fact is that Becker has since last December rented a safe deposit vault for the deposit of securities.

The prosecutor has at present no legal right to order the vault opened, but he regards the facts of its existence of such importance in connection with the allegations that Becker had grown rich out of gambling graft, that for several days he has had detectives on guard to see that the contents of the vault are not withdrawn. Any attempt to open the box will be held before the prosecutor as a witness and asked to explain the reason for wishing to do so.

Lieutenant's Wife Withdraws Money. Becker's wife has within the last ten days withdrawn from the vault $25,000, which she had previously learned, withdrawn $25,000 out of the $25,000 to her husband's credit in various New York banks.

Asking Blanket Indictment. The public prosecutor will tomorrow ask from the grand jury a blanket indictment against Becker and seven men. They will include Becker, William Shapiro, owner of the "assassination car," and the cars' alleged crew, "Cyp" and "Doc" and three other companions. Before the indictments are drawn, however, he expects to have before the jury as witnesses the west side prison trio, Rose, Webster and Valdes. Becker, who is a notary who witnessed the famous Rosenthal affidavit which Rose says Becker forced from him as the price of police protection from arrest, possibly had a hand in the Rosenthal case.
